One has time for deep self-reflection and introspection when practically anything else there is to do is off the table... So for me, for instance, I have discovered that I am in fact really bad at grooming dogs... Folks, I know I am not alone here when I say I desperately need our community businesses to survive this (ahem dog groomers), so let's do what we can to help out! Donate, buy gift cards from local businesses, order takeout from your favorite restaurants. The PPP loan program dried up before many companies even had a shot at funds, but it is expected to get replenished. We have been working with several small businesses to help them through the application process, so talk to your favorite businesses around town, if they have questions on PPP or need an intro to a baker, please let me know. Quarantine week 6 y'all, keep ya head up!

Austin Financing Activity

- More details about the previously disclosed Coder round. Coder, a cloud-powered software development platform, raised $30M in a series B round. In-Q-Tel is one of several new investors in a new $30M funding round led by GGV Capital, with participation from existing investors Redpoint and Uncork Capital. According to cofounder and co-CEO John Entwistle, the new funding values Coder at $200M. This increases Coders total funding to $43M
- Degree Analytics, a of a student analytics software designed to help in engaging university students, announced it raised a $2.5M Series A from undisclosed investors. The company has raised approx. $6M to date according to Pitchbook.
- Aurigo Software, an Austin, Texas-based provider of physical project management software, secured an $8M investment from Autodesk (Nasdaq: ADSK). The company has raised approx. $22M to date.
- Gembah, a product development platform, announced it raised $3.3M in seed funding. The new funding round was led by Silverton Partners, with ATX Venture Partners and Capital Factory joining in.
- Precision Autonomy, a platform that provides customized insurance pricing for commercial drones, raised $450,000 of venture funding in the form of convertible debt from undisclosed investors

Other Regional Activity

- Lantern Pharma has filed a preliminary prospectus for a $29M IPO. The Dallas, TX-based biotech says it leverages artificial intelligence (via its RADR platform), machine learning and genomic data to streamline the oncology drug development process. Its pipeline consists of small molecules that have failed previous clinical studies or been abandoned for lack of efficacy as well as internally developed new compounds.
- Avenir, a Plano-based provider of lifecycle and procurement management solutions intended to automate the source-to-pay processes, raised $2M of seed funding from Accel.
- StemBioSys, a San Antonio biotech company, acquired a spin out company out of the University of Michigan. Together they have identified an important application that supports cardiac toxicity testing. In the first 8 weeks of this year, they raised $2.1M.
- Motivity Labs, an Irving-based provider of cloud-based technology services designed to simplify and provide server-side development facilities, was acquired by Jnit Technologies Inc for an undisclosed amount. Previously, the company raised an undisclosed amount of venture funding from Naya Ventures.

Austin People

- Wheel, a platform that connects practitioners with tele-health staffing opportunities, added Chris Norris as CTO and Chris Donus as CFO. This follows Wheel's $13.9M Series A in January. Norris was previously VP of engineering and analytics at Darby Smart. Donus was previously VP of Express Drive with Lyft and President and COO of Silvercar.
- Arrive Logistics, a freight brokerage platform, has laid off 10% of its staff, FreightWaves.com reported. That's about 110 people total, with 75 positions cut and 35 furloughed. Another 25 employees were repositioned. Arrive Logistics has raised $35M to date.
- Homegrown chain JuiceLand to reopen stores, hire 100 after getting PPP loan

Austin News

- Well... there was an anti-lockdown protest in Austin yesterday, which brought out anti-vaxxers and Trump supporters chanting 'Fire Fauci'
- And in related news... Texas will be the first state to reopen starting with public parks and retailers this week if they can do curbside or home deliveries - but schools will remain closed
- Gov. Abbott outlines plan to relax restrictions and gradually reopen Texas economy
- Mayor Steve Adler and Travis County Judge Sarah Eckhardt have extended stay-at-home orders until May 8 and have expanded those orders to mandate that residents wear fabric face coverings during essential work and activities.
- The Top 10 Austin Tech and Startup Funding Rounds of Q1
- Austin hotels hit with devastating drops in occupancy, revenue
- Despite outbreak, Dell takes bigger slice of PC market
- Austin-based, 'Sharing Is Caring', is a non-profit online marketplace, born out of the coronavirus crisis, where folks can request or donate goods/services amongst themselves (with no $$ involved). Lend a (socially distanced) hand to Austin neighbors who need your help, or receive a bounty from generous community members.
- Bumble, a dating, and friend-finding app, released its first round of checks under its $1M Community Grant Program, which provides up to $5K in support from Bumble to small businesses. It picked two Austin restaurants -- Bouldin Creek Cafe and Counter Culture -- among its 10 recipients.

Thank you!
